Making Waves in Environmental Conservation with Ocean Plastic® Recycled Cards

GRAND BLANC, Mich. – ELGA Credit Union is making headlines with its latest initiative to support ocean pollution clean-up efforts. By choosing to use an ELGA Credit Union Debit or Credit Card, members are not only making secure transactions but also actively participating in a brand that is committed to protecting our oceans.

Terry Katzur, President and CEO of ELGA Credit Union, stated, "We are excited to introduce our Ocean Plastic® Recycled Cards as a tangible way for our members to participate in ocean pollution clean-up efforts. By choosing ELGA Credit Union for their financial needs, our members are accessing top-notch banking services and actively contributing to a cleaner and healthier planet."

In an era where environmental sustainability is a pressing concern, ELGA Credit Union recognizes the importance of taking responsibility for our planet. The financial institution has taken a proactive approach by partnering with Thales and relaunching its credit and debit card program, all made with Ocean Plastic® Cards, which use plastic reclaimed from coastal areas that would otherwise end up in the world's oceans.

ELGA Credit Union is thrilled to play a role in the effort to reduce ocean plastic waste.
